VELVET TUXEDO

Perfect Match For All Seasons. can complement most any season or theme. Aside from the functional perks like these, velvet simply goes year-round. Even in the Spring or Summer, velvet is a great way to transition to a 2nd look to a nighttime celebration.

A velvet jacket is the perfect option for any merry-making men-about-town this winter. The softly brushed fabric will add a hint of distinctive, dandyish style to even the most trimly tailored, traditional tux – and velvet can also add a welcome splash of colour to a seasonal sea of black tie.

BLACK TUXEDO

Black is the classic standard for tuxedos, but black looks better with darker accessories. black tuxedo looks best when paired with darker colors or patterns to create contrast with the white shirt.

MODERN TUXEDO

Modern tuxedos often limit the use of satin to a thin trim on the lapels and a skinny stripe down the pant leg, but this is still considered a tuxedo. On a suit, the jacket, lapel and pants all consist of the same material. Instead of satin buttons, a suit will usually have bone, plastic or fabric-covered buttons.

CLASSIC TUXEDO

"This is the most traditional form of a tuxedo: black with satin lapels, a crisp white tuxedo shirt, a self-tie bow tie, cufflinks and a stud set, proper tuxedo trousers, and elegant tuxedo footwear,"
